Description:

On the terrace of the wonderful shop annex bar Scudieri close to the Duomo at the piazza in Florence we notice a beautiful Italian woman. Very dark hair, accentuated by a fire-red flower and a lovely tan. She casts an irritated look towards three foreign "fat" ladies (not those from the British t.v. cooking programme) with pale skin, comfortably but rather shabbily dressed and shoed in sneakers. Her expression says it all: 'Ladies, why don't you do something about your appearance?'. She, arrogantly convinced of her female superiority in these matters, just sits there being a sight for sore eyes. It is so relaxing, sitting on a terrace like this and watching life and humanity go by... You have to take the noise as a matter of fact, but the atmosphere is indescribably lively. We had a Prosecco, and enjoyed the drink, life and ourselves. When in season, the Prosecco is adorned with a fresh strawberry, so if you want another one, you always have a very good excuse: fresh fruits are good for you!

We spent hours on end to discover special shops and hidden treasures of Florence and as far as the latter is concerned: we found a jewel in the hills surrounding Florence, between the Certosa Convent and the Ponte Vecchio. Peace and quiet, breathtaking views, with the never-sleeping city of Florence at a mere 2,5 km distance: the Relais Marignolle.

This accommodation is ideally located for visits to Florence, to be combined with rural beauty and relaxation.

Within a quarter of an hour, you are in the centre of this eternally beautiful city for visits to museums, fashion shows, have delicious meals, to do shopping, whatsoever and yet, at the end of a well-spent day, you can relax at the swimming pool, have a refreshing dip, drink something special...

Of course, day-trips into the country, for example to the castles of the Chianti or some wine-tasting, are also very much possible, and worth while.

This relais is surrounded by a wonderful garden with cypresses, pinetrees, broom, rosemary, thyme etc. and of course, bright-red geraniums in pots.

We can honestly say that we were made very welcome here; we were cosseted and spoiled. All the rooms have been very elegantly furnished, with all modern comforts and bathrooms in which you would like to spend hours on end. When coming home in the evening (even after one day, we felt we "came home") the open fireplace in the lounge has been lit and candlelight is glowing. On the small cupboard you find biscuits and drinks you can serve yourself. If you make it known what you would like for your breakfast the next morning, Italian style with croissants, cakes and home-made jams or rather British, with eggs and bacon: the direction of the Relais Marignolle regards your wishes as their command. And when the weather is typically, Italian-beautiful, you can have your breakfast served in the garden underneath the gazebo, sitting at tables with lovely linen tablecloths and served by the staff wanting to cater to you every wish.
